CATHOLIC

Knights and Ladies of America to Meet Here Next Week.

Delegates Will Be in Attendance From All Parts of the Country.

The Local Branches Prepared to Properly Entertain Visitors.

ORDER ORIGINATED IN THIS CITY

The Catholic Knights and Ladies of America will hold their annual convention in Louisville May 24-26, and over 200 delegates and visitors from all parts of the United States will be in attendance. Preparations are now being made by the local members of the order for the proper reception and entertainment of the visitors. The business sessions will be held in the Weissinger-Gaulbert building, at Third and Broadway; an entertainment will be given at Macaulay's Theater, the delegates will be treated to trolley and steamboat rides, and finally a banquet will be given in their honor at the Restaurant Vatal. The headquarters of the delegates will be at the Willard Hotel.

The delegates will first assist at a solemn high mass in St. Mary's church, Eighth and Grayson streets, on the morning of May 24. On this occasion the eloquent Father Charles Raffo will deliver a sermon appropriate to the occasion. Leading Catholic women and men from all parts of the country will attend the convention and the session will be an important one. Mayor Grainger will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the city.

The Catholic Knights and Ladies of America is one of the strongest benevolent orders of men and women in the United States. It has a membership of over 8,000. The order originated in Louisville, the first council being made up of members of Father Raffo's parish, Gran W. Smith, Dr. William B. Doherty and Father Raffo taking a prominent part in the early organization. Since then it has spread all over the country and has accomplished much good for the church and its membership.

Thomas Keenan, who is a leading member of the order, is at the head of the local Committee of Arrangements and is ably assisted by Miss Mary Sheridan and Dr. Peter Ganz. There are about 1,700 members of the order in Louisville and they are abundantly able to see that the delegates are properly entertained. The entertainment at Macaulay's will consist of addresses, musical selections, recitations, etc., and the programme is now being prepared. Miss Mary Sheridan, of this city, is the Supreme Treasurer of the Knights and Ladies, and has been honored with this position for many years on account of her efficiency, strict integrity and devotion to the promotion of the cause of the order.

Tuesday morning the Law Committee met in Parlor A at the Galt House, where the Supreme officers have made their headquarters. Those present were Chairman James McNamara, of Detroit; Thos. A. Fuller, of Cairo; James P. Monahan, of Memphis; Dr. T. E. De Guere, of Marine City, Mich.; and with them were Supreme President James H. Crumley, of Detroit, and Supreme Secretary John J. Duffy, of Memphis.

When called upon by the Kentucky Irish American Chairman McNamara stated that but few amendments to the present laws had been submitted, and therefore the committee had reason to believe there would be but few changes made, and none of a radical character would be recommended.

Secretary Duffy says the Catholic Knights and Ladies have made steady progress during the past two years, and now have a membership of about 8,000. Since the last convention ten new branches have been instituted, but Kentucky still leads all the other States, having about one-fourth of the entire membership. The fact that gives the Supreme officers the greatest satisfaction, and one worthy of note, is that there has not been an extra assessment levied during the last two years, something of which no other fraternal insurance order can boast.

During the past few days some feeling has developed over the manner in which the Supreme officers have treated the members of the order in this city. For several months the Louisville branches have been working hard in order to properly entertain the officers, delegates and visitors to the convention, and they have been remarkably successful, having raised a large sum of money for that purpose. It has been reported at this office that the Supreme officers have altogether ignored their Louisville brethren and have made arrangements that will upset the work that has been so earnestly engaged in for the past two years. The local committee had chosen the Willard Hotel for headquarters, and also the Weissinger-Gaulbert building for the sessions of the convention. Here also they had arranged for a banquet for 300 guests. A great entertainment has been planned for Macaulay's Theater for next Tuesday night, when Miss Bee Mullarkey, Messrs. Thomas Clines, Charles Parsons, Frank Burke, the Mooney twins and others will take part in the exercises. These facts will be made known as soon as the convention assemblies, and unless an agreement is reached there will be some caustic speeches, as the Kentucky delegates want to extend that hospitality for which the State is noted. Another subject of adverse comment is the fact that our State was ignored in the naming of the Law Committee, notwithstanding its large membership. The hope is everywhere expressed that the wishes of the Louisville Knights and Ladies will be deferred to and harmony prevail.

LADIES ARE READY

For Their Leap Party at the Weissinger-Gaulbert Building.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held a fine meeting Wednesday night, and reports showed everything arranged for their Leap Year eucure and dance at the Weissinger-Gaulbert on Thursday, June 9. Mrs. Lawrence Mackey and Misses Marie Riley, Ella O'Connell, Mamie Keenan, Jennie McEvoy, Mamie Fitzgerald and Annie Bohan will constitute the floor committee and will have entire charge of the dancing. For the eucure handsome prizes have been secured and a delightful evening is promised all who attend. As this will be the first Irish Leap Year party given in Louisville a large and happy gathering is looked for. Mrs. Mike Hickey will preside at the eucure and will be assisted by a committee of young ladies representing all parts of the city.

Mrs. Anna McGinty was obligated and Misses Lizzie Hartnett and Katherine Ansbore were reported sick. Much routine business was transacted and an early adjournment was had. Miss Mary Cavanaugh presided and appointed a number of committees to serve on the evening of June 9.

TOURING IRELAND

American Party Runs Across a Man With Good Eyesight.

Seamus McManus writes in a syndicate letter to the American press: Talking of the American tourist reminds me of an incident worth setting down en passant. A pair of up-to-date-and-a-league-beyond-it young American fellows traveling in Kerry journeyed out to the extreme land's end. They found a simple countryman standing alone in this lonely place and looking westward over the moonlit ocean—for it was now late evening. To those very smart Americans the poor Kerryman seemed very "easy." "Well, my good man," said one of the pair, "on a very clear day it is possible to see as far as America from this head." "As far as America, sir? Och, far further," and his eyes were still fixed afar. "Further?" said the American. "You can see further?" "Oh, yes," the Kerryman said very quietly; "it's only a clear night now and I can see, at my dead aise, as far as the moon." The young gentlemen were mopping their brows as they hurried away. The moon was shining too fiercely for them on the Old Head of Kinsale.

Continuing his stories about tourists, McManus writes: Soon, very soon, the American "tourist" will be with us and invading the shops where the Hibernian, whose forefathers moved softly out of Jerusalem the night before their rent was due, offers them Irish "photographs" that sprang and flourished on Alpine slopes. I have known enlightened Americans bring home with them—under the innocent delusion that they had got the genuine article—vile caricatures styled "photographs of Irish life," which are about as like Irish life as Theodore Roosevelt is like Chuck Connors. And I have known Americans who waxed vain on their astuteness, no-fines-on-me Sir Yankees, carry home and suspend by a green ribbon in their parlors, and fetch their friends to see a horrible bludgeon that they purchased for "a genuine Irish shillelagh, begob, sir," which I believe could not have been palmed upon a farmer who never adventured over the bounds of Posey county, Indiana. O great tourist men from America, oftentimes beside you our most verdant hill shows scarlet.

HONORED WITH BANQUET.

Thirty Knights of Columbus gave a delightful banquet at the Elks' Home Tuesday evening in honor of Prof. Patrick O'Sullivan, the young Irish composer. Impromptu addresses were delivered by Hon. Edward J. McDermott, Judge Matt O'Doherty, James J. Fitzgerald and others. The affair was a most enjoyable one and will afford the talented pianist pleasant memories during his absence abroad.

GOLDEN JUBILEE.

St. Stephen's church of Newport, of which Rev. Joseph Marshmann is pastor, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its dedication on Sunday, June 19. Pontifical mass will be celebrated by Right Rev. Bishop Maes and the festival sermon will be preached by the Rev. Father Chrysostomus, O. S. F. The invitations issued are very handsome.

SPIRITED

But Friendly Rivalry Between Candidates in Popularity Contest.

Those Who Are First Now May Be Last in the Wind Up.

Each of the Thirty-Six in the List Ought to Get 5,000 Votes.

PRIZES ARE WORTH GOING AFTER

The friendly rivalry between the candidates in our great popularity contest, or rather the rivalry between the friends of the candidates, is becoming more intense as the time draws near to decide who shall go to the great World's Fair at St. Louis at the expense of the Kentucky Irish American. Because Lieut. Tom Fitzgibbon, for instance, heads the list among the single gentlemen this week is no sign that he will be in the lead next week or at the close. True it is that those who are in the lead would naturally be the favorite in the betting, but things change! "The first shall be last and last first." There is no telling but that the friends of George Percy Wells, among the single gentlemen candidates, who was at the bottom, may forge to the top and be leader before the contest closes. It is certain that the friends of Frank McDonough, particularly the members of the Y. M. I., have been doing good work for him recently, and so have the admirers of Charley Raidy and Tom Camfield. The single man who wins this prize can assuredly win a pretty girl for a wife or be elected to the General Council after his name is announced in these columns as the winner. So let the friends of the single men bestir themselves.

Evidently the friends of Miss Ella O'Connell were well pleased with her pretty picture printed in the Kentucky Irish American last week, for the paper had not been off the press but a few hours when subscriptions came pouring in to be credited to her. But Miss O'Connell was not the only one who got votes during the week. Miss Mamie Riley was not forgotten, and neither were the Misses Mary Foley, Alice Walsh, Margaret Tobin, Margaret Norton, Julia Kelly, Mamie Keenan, Lady Heffernan, Catherine Conadeau or Mary Cavanaugh. All these are pretty and lovely girls and it is a matter of surprise to us that they don't get more votes than the single gentlemen. The explanation, probably, is that they are too modest. Modesty is a charming virtue and its cultivation is to be commended. Let these young ladies get their sweethearts to help them during the next few weeks and the vote will exceed that of the single gentlemen and the married couples combined.

The thirteen married couples are pretty well bunched in this contest. The leaders are up in the 3,000 column, but Michael Reichert and wife, who have been under the 2,000 mark, are coming to the front. If the Germans once take a notion to send Mr. Reichert and wife to the Fair, good-by to the Irish contestants. Although this paper is inclined to favor the Irish, it will show no favoritism in this contest, and we are only too glad to see the admirers of Mr. and Mrs. Reichert among our German Catholic friends coming to their rescue. And they are getting some Irish votes, too. John J. Sullivan and wife will be heard from, too, before this thing is over, their friends say.

Every one of the thirty-six candidates ought to get at least 5,000 votes each before the contest closes. Louisville is a big city, Kentucky is a great Commonwealth, and this paper goes over all of the dark and bloody ground. We feel certain that each and every one of the candidates has at least 5,000 friends. The winners may have 10,000 friends each, for all we know.

Now is the time to vote. For each subscription sent in fifty votes will be credited to any candidate designated by the subscriber, and the paper will be sent for one year to any address, and the address changed if desired.

The winners will be entitled to free transportation to St. Louis and return and seven days' entertainment at the Lindell Hotel, one of the finest hotels in the West. The Kentucky Irish American has arranged for this at great expense. It is something that no other newspaper in Kentucky is doing. All the prizes are well worth going after. With a little energy among the friends of the candidates almost any one of the married couples, the single ladies or single gentlemen can be a winner.

The table showing the standing of the candidates up to noon Thursday is given below:

RECENT DEATHS.

John J. Kinney, for some years a resident of the West End, died Wednesday morning at his home, 1639 Tyler avenue. His funeral took place Friday morning from St. Patrick's church and was largely attended. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

Joseph Veith, a well known member of St. Vincent de Paul's church and for eleven years a member of the police force, died Monday afternoon at his home on Mulberry street from an attack of heart disease, with which he was stricken the week previous. His wife and five children survive him. The funeral took place Wednesday morning from St. Vincent de Paul's, a detail of police acting as escort to the remains.

The Winchester Democrat announces the death of Mrs. Joseph Shannon, one of the best known and highly respected Catholic women of Clark county. She died Sunday morning of cancer of the stomach, that day being the thirty-fourth anniversary of her marriage. Besides her husband she leaves four children—Miss Laura and Joseph Shannon, of Winchester, and Mrs. Fannie McCarthy and Mrs. Agnes Crim, of Birmingham, Ala. The funeral took place Monday morning from St. Joseph's church, the interment being in the Catholic cemetery at Mt. Sterling. Mrs. Shannon was a good Christian woman, whose many deeds of kindness are worthy of emulation by all.

JUBILEE FOR SPEAKER.

Ben Speaker and his estimable wife celebrated the silver anniversary of their marriage at their home Friday evening, where many friends and acquaintances called to offer the congratulations and wish them many more years of happiness and prosperity. The Catholic Knights of America, who never do anything without Mr. Speaker's assistance, his fellow-workmen and Irish and German friends without number have been speaking kindly words to him for several days.

Y. M. I.

New Albany Council Made a Splendid Showing Thursday Night.

An Instructive and Interesting Joint Session Poorly Attended.

OUTINGS ARE NEXT FIXED EVENTS

The largest gathering of members of the Young Men's Institute in the history of the Indiana Jurisdiction of the Y. M. I. was held Thursday night at Union Hall to greet the Grand officers of the Indiana Jurisdiction, President John Gerdink, of Terre Haute, and William Fogarty, of Indianapolis. Those gentlemen were met by a committee headed by Con McBaron upon their arrival and were taken over the city and otherwise entertained until the hour for the meeting.

At 8 o'clock the distinguished visitors and Messrs. Emmet Slattery, William H. Higgins, James B. Kelly, Clarence Zook and George Lantz were escorted to seats on the stage. Con McBaron, who presided, and declared recesses at frequent intervals for refreshments, of which there was a great abundance, welcomed all to the celebration of the ninth anniversary of the Y. M. I. He presented the speakers, who were received with hearty applause.

Grand President Gerdink, who is Prosecuting Attorney of Terre Haute, expressed himself as pleased to be with the members of the Y. M. I. and their friends from Kentucky. His words on the Y. M. I. were sincere and earnest and made a very favorable impression. He knew of the ups and downs of the older members of the Y. M. I. and what they did that made them a star of the Indiana Jurisdiction. They had reason to be proud of their work, and with good men at the head there was a great future for this excellent council. The Indiana Jurisdiction, he said, had increased in both assets and members and was now in a prosperous condition. In an eloquent peroration he dwelt upon the love and loyalty of Catholic men for our glorious country and the great motto of the Y. M. I.

When William Fogarty, the popular City Clerk of Indianapolis and Grand Secretary, was introduced he was greeted with an outburst of applause that showed his fame had preceded him. He was happy and witty and the story of his troubles in Louisville, where "everything went straight up," created much laughter. Mr. Fogarty took for his text "Unity and Patriotism," which he aptly illustrated. He then dwelt feelingly on home ties and St. Patrick's Hall in Indianapolis, where the stars and stripes were first raised in this country in honor of patriotic instruction. It was also his pleasure to bring greetings from the Grand Council. Before closing his splendid effort he read a beautiful poem and urged the young men to make their emblem second to the cross that greets them everywhere and mean all that it implies.

James B. Kelly, the next speaker, said those present from the three councils of Louisville came not to talk but to welcome the Indiana Grand officers and celebrate the anniversary of Unity, and stood ready to share with them all the blessings bestowed upon the Kentucky Jurisdiction. Short but pleasing talks were also made by Messrs. George Lantz, John Crotty, Clarence Zook, Emmet Slattery, William H. Higgins and David O'Connell. Taken altogether, the celebration, which lasted till near midnight, was an enjoyable one and will result in great good to the Y. M. I.

Messrs. Fogarty and Gerdink left Friday for their respective homes. Both were pleased with their reception and

IMPORTANT

Action of Central Committee of Catholic Knights of America.

Reconsider Former Resolution Opposing Any Change in Assessment.

Will Give Supreme President Cordial Reception Next Week.

KADESKI PLAN GROWING IN FAVOR

Only eight branches were represented when President Newton Rogers called to order the meeting of the Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America at St. Mary's Hall last Friday night. But what was lacking in numbers was made up in interest in the proceedings later on. In the absence of Albert F. Martin, the Chair appointed L. D. Bax to act as Secretary pro tem. Chairman Reichert stated that the Entertainment Committee had no report to make. Joe McGinn and William C. Smith, from the Membership and Executive Committees, had neither anything to report. C. A. Hill and L. D. Bax were added to the Entertainment Committee, and Delegate Seoder to that on Membership.

John Schalla, Chairman of the special committee to confer with like committees from central bodies in other cities looking to united action upon important questions that will come before the next Supreme Council, was absent, but letters were received from the Central Committee of Cincinnati that gave rise to heated debate between President Rogers and ex-Supreme Trustee Smith, the great majority voting with the former. The Cincinnati body wants the office of Supreme Treasurer abolished and biennial instead of annual conventions, two changes that would result in a big saving of money to the Catholic Knights at large. Besides the Central Committee all the larger branches of Ohio had voted for re-rating, and regret was expressed at the vote of their Kentucky brethren. They wanted a new scale adopted, including special rates for hazardous risks. Upon the suggestion of the Chairman the correspondence was turned over to Edward Neuhaus.

Later upon motion of Supreme Delegate Reichert the resolutions recently adopted on the re-rating question were reconsidered. Delegate Reichert suggested that the committee assure the Supreme Council its support upon the adoption of a practical plan. He had given the question much thought and wanted such rates adopted as would protect the old members and also meet all obligations, placing the Catholic Knights of America on an unquestionably sound financial basis.

Ex-Supreme Trustee Smith, who has opposed changing the present rate of assessment, was the next speaker. All he wanted, he said, was wisdom to prevail and justice would be done all men.

Other delegates expressed themselves favorably to the proposed change, and wanted more inducements offered young men. Years ago it became apparent, they said, that the present rate was insufficient. They advocated the Kadeski plan of graded payments, meaning that policies issue hereafter for only sums proportionate to their cost, as his facts and figures were incontrovertible.

President Rogers favored special and prompt action by the Supreme Council and careful consideration of all plans submitted. The Reichert resolution was adopted by an almost unanimous vote, though strenuously opposed by Delegate Smith.

Upon the call of the branches a net gain of six members was announced. The Entertainment Committee was instructed to arrange a reception in honor of Supreme President Gaudin, of New Orleans, who will be here next week. A dinner will be given in his honor, when the local Knights will have the opportunity of meeting him.

L. D. Bax suggested that the Central Committee arrange an excursion for the Catholic Knights of America to the St. Louis Exposition. He read several letters, and was of the opinion that rates could be secured within the reach of all. He also suggested other means by which the funds in the treasury could be increased.

When Edward Neuhaus was called upon he said he had been longing for the conversion that had manifested itself during the evening. The order was destined to go forward, and when Major Gen. Kadeski came to Louisville the local Knights would give him a cordial reception. The next regular meeting will be an important one, as Supreme Trustee McGinn will report the proceedings of the meeting of the Supreme officers at St. Louis this week.

A special dispatch to the Kentucky Irish American states that the Supreme officers heard Actuary Landies on the rate question Thursday morning and that a new rate would be submitted the entire membership.

Should a special convention be called to meet this summer those gentlemen who were elected last year will constitute the Supreme Council that will readjust the rating.

promised that two more councils would be instituted before the August convention. They are both Hibernians and were welcome visitors at the office of the Kentucky Irish American during their brief stay in this city.

Monday night was the time set for the joint meeting of the members of Mackin, Trinity and Satolli Councils, and though the proceedings were both interesting and instructive the attendance was so small as to be somewhat discouraging. Out of a membership of about 700 less than 200 were present. The address of David O'Connell was full of wise suggestions and was well received. He laid special stress on the benefits young men derive from participation in council debates, which should be encouraged. Bodies like the Young Men's Institute, he said, are great institutions of learning, and all will profit by the debates and a strict adherence to the law.

William J. O'Connor spoke on the political situation and made an interesting comparison between Hearst, Parker, Cleveland and Gorman, declaring the last named the most cunning and ablest strategist of the four.

Emil Mouth, of Trinity Council discussed the decision of DeWitt Clinton, when a Catholic priest refused to divulge the secrets of the confessional, and the later refusal of Rev. Lambert Young to give evidence at Frankfort in a case that attracted widespread attention.

Other speakers were Grand Secretary Lantz, William J. O'Sullivan, Grand President Kelly, Clarence Zook and Will Perry, and it was about midnight when the last words were spoken. During the evening cigars were passed around and all had a general good time.

Messrs. Hinkbein and McBaron invited all to the meeting to be held in New Albany on Thursday night, assuring them they would be well pleased with their visit.

BERTRANDIA.

Boys' Choir Impresses Favorably People of Dominican Parish.

The baptistry of St. Louis Bertrand's church is in course of renovation. To make more room for it the shrine of St. Anthony has undergone some alterations, which when completed will make it a delight to the many clients of the brown-robed son of St. Francis. A handsome new pedestal has taken the place of the former altar, and provision is being made for votive candle-stands, which will be more in keeping with the general improvements.

The boys' choir has made a favorable impression on the congregation assisting at the May devotions each evening. The hymns to the Blessed Virgin are rendered with true fervor and the Latin of the benediction service is likewise well executed. In the near future the requiem masses will be assigned to the vested choir, and no doubt before long the boys will be heard in other more important functions, in which the Gregorian chant will be given exclusively. They are under the charge and instruction of the Rev. Father Lawler, O. P.

Last Sunday the children of the Sunday-school raised their united voices in hymns of praise and thanksgiving during the 9 o'clock mass. The excellent training they have received under the Rev. Father Martin, O. P., will probably be the means of making congregational singing very popular among the people of St. Louis Bertrand's. The Sunday-school classes have steadily improved in numbers, and their splendid organization has been made the subject of much favorable comment. New impetus has been given to the Confraternity of the Angelic Warfare since the memorable day of first communion and confirmation. Its members will receive holy communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass.

FORTY-ONE CHILDREN

Received First Holy Communion at St. Aloysius' Church.

Forty-one bright and happy children made their first holy communion last Sunday at St. Aloysius' church, their devoted pastor, Rev. Father O'Grady, celebrating the mass and administering the sacrament. The little people were joined by the Sodality of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, young men and boys, and the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, girls and young ladies, numbering altogether about 200. In the afternoon the young communicants were affiliated with their respective sodalities. The sodality for the boys and young men of the parish steadily averages sixty-seven. Its present Perfect is Louis Braun, an exemplary man, holding a responsible position with the Home Telephone Company. He has held the office for four years, and is no less anxious for the sodality's welfare than were his predecessors, George McCann and Emmet Kennedy.

The class was confirmed by the Right Rev. Bishop Allen, of Mobile, on the previous Monday. There was one convert among the number, William Bartman, who had been under instruction for nine months. Father O'Grady has reason to be proud of his faithful little flock.

IMPORT NEGROES FOR WHITE MEN'S PLACES.

The Employers' Association of Louisville seems determined to break up all the local labor unions if possible. It is having a hard time in doing this, so far as the printers' and the bricklayers' unions are concerned. The last move of the Employers' Association is not very creditable to the good judgment of the strenuous leaders in that body. It is liable to bring discredit on the association. We refer to the bringing here of a lot of negro bricklayers from Memphis and the South to take the places of white men. The Bricklayers' Union demanded sixty cents an hour, which is the wage in Indianapolis and Cincinnati and other neighboring cities. Most of the contractors granted the increased wages to their journeymen, but others who belong to the Employers' Association refused, and now bring negroes here to take the places of white men. The negroes were placed at work on the new Louisville & Nashville shops in South Louisville. The daily papers have never mentioned this astonishing feature of the controversy between the journeymen and their bosses. Some of these very bosses have been complaining that the negro population of Louisville was too large, there being 10,000 negro votes here already. But that is not here nor there. The employers could have secured white men to do this work by paying them two and a half cents more an hour than they pay the imported negroes.

It is surprising that men composing the Builders' Exchange, who have an interest in the future welfare and progress of the city, should make a mistake of this kind, and for a few cents a day take work away from white men and give it to non-resident negroes. Such actions as these arouse antagonisms among employees and employers which should not exist. Labor union leaders are sometimes hot-headed and make grievous mistakes, but we can not recall where they were guilty of as grievous a blunder as the contracting bricklayers in this instance.

IS COQUETRY A VIRTUE?

Prof. James H. Tufts, the Dean of the University of Chicago (Baptist), in the course of a lecture to his pupils recently, made the following amazing statement: "Coquetry is a training of the abilities which one needs in serious life. It is not merely an outlet for the dissipation of the surplus energies, but it tends to the development of the higher and intellectual faculties."

The professor told his pupils, men and women, for they have the "co-ed" plan in this university, that it was all right for girls to flirt. Webster's definition of coquetry is as follows: "Affectation of amorous advances; trifling in love." If Webster is correct, it would be difficult to discover how "the abilities" could be trained by trifling or indulgence "in amorous advances." To most persons it would seem the cultivation of such propensities would produce anything but desirable results.

Mrs. John A. Logan, who was last Saturday elected President of the Red Cross Society, denounces the statement of Prof. Tufts, and thinks it ought to be fatal to his future connection with the university.

"Coquetry," says Mrs. Logan, "has always been thought denigrating in every sense of the word, and it was considered the root of many evils in the character, especially of women, coquetry being responsible for the abundant harvest of unhappiness many of them reaped from silly flirtations."

Continuing Mrs. Logan writes: "To make the advances of a coquette one must lay aside modesty, one of the most attractive virtues in a woman. The employment of the arts and affectations of a coquette must necessarily make them insincere and deceitful, two abhorrent vices either in man or woman. Few coquettes have ever overcome their pernicious propensities, even after taking vows of faithfulness unto death to the man who runs the risk of marrying a flirt. Heartlessness, the most fatal thing in a woman, should assuredly be avoided, as it does create in her an aversion for many high and holy duties devolving upon woman which require self-sacrifice and humility. People have been laboring under the impression that education is for the development of the higher and nobler qualities of all mankind; that knowledge tends to make people thoughtful, upright, steady and better. No one ever dreamed that the cultivation of frivolous, deceitful, improper, insincere, immodest and unbecoming propensities could possibly develop 'abilities which one needs in serious life.'"

Mrs. Logan is to be commended for calling down this sensational Chicago professor. No wonder there are so many divorces when such sentiments as those enunciated by Prof. Tufts are tolerated in so-called Christian universities.

CATHOLICITY AMONG METHODISTS.

At the Methodist General Conference in Los Angeles last week one of the delegates, a preacher, made a vicious attack on the Catholic church and presented a resolution denouncing the church and its methods. A lay delegate arose in his place and defended the church from the attack, which he said was unjustifiable. He paid a high tribute to the church and its clergy and moved the reference of the resolution, which had the effect of permanently laying it upon the table. The defense of the church was loudly applauded by nearly all of the delegates and visitors to the conference in the galleries. The Methodist church is becoming more Catholic and the good spirit shown at the Los Angeles Conference is to be commended.

NO CHANGE IN NAME.

The General Conference of the Episcopal church, held in San Francisco in 1901, appointed a committee of fifteen to consider the advisability of changing the legal name of the denomination. Some want the name changed to the Catholic church in the United States, others to the Catholic Episcopal church. The committee has made up its report, which will be submitted to the General Conference in Boston in October. Seven of the committee oppose any change. Five members favor a change, and say it is humiliating that prejudice against the Pope of Rome should stand in the way of calling the Episcopal church Catholic. The only way out of the difficulty seems to be for the High Church Episcopalians to join the Catholic church, and many of them are doing so every day.

AS TO CHURCH MUSIC.

The encyclical of Pope Pius X. on church music has been much misunderstood, and the impression has been created that by ecclesiastical law modern music in the church will be abolished at once, leaving nothing but the Gregorian. The contrary is the fact. The first and highest place is given to the Gregorian and a high second to the Palstrina style. Modern music comes third. The Pope expressly says that many of the modern compositions are excellent and the best of it may be retained.

As to the rapidity with which the reform in church music suggested by the Pope will go into effect, that will depend upon circumstances. Instantaneous changes are not contemplated and none will be made until the Bishop of each diocese orders them.

There are now in the United States and Territories 56,774 Catholic Indians, ministered to by 152 priests. There are 6,050 Indian pupils in Catholic schools and 631 teachers. The Mexican Indian population is not considered in this statement, which is official. The value of church and school buildings is $1,500,000. All the Catholic Indian schools and missions are now supported through voluntary subscriptions from Catholics, the Government having withdrawn all State aid.

We congratulate the printers of the country upon the re-election of James M. Lynch to the Presidency of the International Typographical Union. He is a safe and conservative man, respected everywhere for his honesty and integrity. In his hands the rights of employer and employee are equally safe. And better than all, he frowns on the Socialistic craze that is working harm wherever it appears.

The Emperor of Germany has manifested his friendship for the Holy See by presenting the Pope with a beautiful bound copy of the first volume of the important work on the Sistine chapel edited by Dr. Steinmann. The Pope, on receiving the volume, expressed himself warmly in appreciation of the friendship of Emperor William, not only on this occasion, but previously.

The Kentucky Irish American tendered the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America a hearty welcome to Louisville, and invites them to make its office their headquarters while in the city. May the convention realize the hopes of the thousands who will be represented therein.

A delegation of Belgian Catholic journalists called on Pope Pius X. a few days ago and gave him an offering of $25,000 for Peter's Pence. Editors in Belgium are better off financially than in some places we know of.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE

Hackett's Mining Investment Likely to Prove Very Profitable.

Mr. Thomas Hackett, the well known distiller, has returned from St. Louis, where he has been on business connected with his Western mining interests. Mr. Hackett is getting ready to develop his mines by providing the latest machinery for smelting ores. His many friends in Louisville and elsewhere will be glad to know that his expectations of making a large fortune out of his mining investments are about to be realized.

EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY.

The following resolutions on the death of Patrick J. Morgan, reported by Messrs. James B. Kelly, Clarence H. Zook and Will P. McDonagh, were adopted at the joint meeting of the Young Men's Institute Councils of Louisville, held at Sattoli Council Hall last Monday evening: Whereas, It has pleased God to call from our midst our respected friend, Patrick J. Morgan, father of Edward B. Morgan, of Sattoli Council; and Whereas, In the death of Mr. Morgan the city of Louisville sustains the loss of an exemplary citizen; be it

Resolved, That the members of the Young Men's Institute do hereby extend to the bereaved family of our departed friend our most heartfelt sympathy in their affliction, reminding them, however, that this separation is only temporary, and that we shall all be reunited one day in that kingdom which has no end.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of Sattoli Council, Mackin Council and Trinity Council; that a copy be sent to the family of our deceased friend, and further, that copies be sent to the Catholic press of the city of Louisville.

SOCIETY.

Miss Eleanor Long visited friends at Morganfield last week.

Miss Bessie Peters has been enjoying a delightful visit with her parents at Central City.

Mrs. John Shea, of the Highlands, will leave early next month for Denver to visit her sister.

Mrs. Kate Athey spent a pleasant week in Covington, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Fox.

Mrs. John Thixton, Jr., returned this week from Mayfield, where she visited Miss Bess Allison.

Miss Nannie McMahon, of Jeffersonville, is in St. Louis visiting relatives and seeing the World's Fair.

Mrs. Jerry O'Connell had as her guest last week at her home in Oakdale Mrs. Ada Martin, of Jeffersonville.

Miss Bessie Glenn, who has been ill with malarial fever at her home in South Louisville, is again well and able to be out.

Thomas H. Tracey and Mary E. Rooney, well known and popular among their friends, were united in marriage Thursday.

Mrs. Fred Ewan, formerly of Jeffersonville, is here from Indianapolis and is visiting her many friends in the Falls Cities.

Mrs. John L. Riehm, accompanied by her mother, left Monday for Frankfort, to visit Mrs. John Rodman and other relatives.

Mrs. Frank McKernan has entirely recovered from an illness that confined her to her home in Beechmont for several weeks.

Halsey Malone, who has been attending the Georgetown College at Washington, will return home the middle of next month.

Mrs. Hilary O'Brien has returned to her home in Elizabethtown, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Philip O'Brien, Fourth avenue.

Miss Edith Malone, who has been attending the Manhattanville college near New York, will arrive home the second week in June.

Miss Stella Gruber, of Portland, spent the week in Richmond, where she went to see her cousin, Miss Kay Miller, who will graduate there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Buttmer, of Newcastle, have returned home after a pleasant visit here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. David O'Connell.

Joseph Hubbuch leaves tonight with his wife and Miss Hubbuch for Birmingham, where they will visit his married daughter and grandchild.

Mrs. William Glenn, of Oakdale, had as her guests this week John Glenn and wife and Mrs. Margaret Welsh and Mrs. Doc Lowe, all of Bowling Green.

The friends of Miss Annie Lyons will regret to learn that she has suffered a painful attack of rheumatism and is unable to leave her home on Eighth street.

Stephen DeCoursey will leave early in June for St. Louis, where he will take part in meeting of the old volunteer firemen of the United States at the World's Fair.

Misses Katherine Ryan, Margaret May and Miss Downs, who visited at Central City, were given an exciting "mining party" through the coal mines there last week.

Mrs. Matt McDonald, who formerly resided here, but now of Covington, was a visitor here the past week as the guest of Miss Mary Foley, Eighth and Oldham streets.

The Cordelia Dancing Club will hold forth at Fountain Perry next Thursday night, when the members would like to meet all their friends. Their dances thus far have been very enjoyable.

The numerous friends of Miss Stella Carter are rejoiced over her recovery from an illness of cold that confined her to her home. She is a favorite in her social circle, and her reported illness caused much anxiety.

A number of friends assembled last Sunday at the handsome new home of Henry Bosquet, on Woodbine avenue, and assisted at its blessing. When the ceremony had been performed his charming wife presided at an elegant dinner and entertained the guests in a most happy manner.

It's a handsome baby boy that has come to stay and brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Herberger, 729 East Breckinridge street. Papa Pete is now the proudest as well as happiest butcher in town, and says he would not change places with Henry Kraft, Gottlieb Layer or any of them.

Miss Katie Kalesher was agreeably surprised Monday evening by her euche club, but she was equal to the occasion and entertained her guests in a delightful manner. Before the games were finished they voted her a charming hostess. The prizes were won by Misses Mary Desse, Mary Link and Maggie Campbell. Those present and taking part in the games were Misses Mary and Maggie Campbell, Mary and Ella Francis, Ella and Katie Whalen, Mary Link, Frances Stroutman, Mary Desse, Nora Finnegan, Mary Joyce, Nora Kalesher, Messrs. Fred Fallon, Joseph Finnegan, Mrs. Martin Finnegan and Mrs. Link.

ROMANTIC

Career of the First Secretary of Indiana Territory Years Ago.

John Gibson Was a Revolutionary Soldier and Indian Fighter.

Interpreted the Famous Speech of Logan, the Indian Chief.

HE WAS OF IRISH PARENTAGE

The series of articles published in the National Hibernian on "The Irish in the American Revolution" are very interesting and instructive. In the May number the Irish race in the early days of Virginia are treated of, and, incidentally, some of the early Irish settlers in Kentucky and Indiana are mentioned, among them the Prestons, of Kentucky, and Gen. John Gibson, the first Secretary of Indiana Territory and acting Governor for a considerable period. Romantic, indeed, was the career of John Gibson, who was born of Irish parents at Lancaster, Pa., on May 23, 1740. He distinguished himself throughout the Revolution and was appointed by President Jefferson Secretary of Indiana Territory, under Gen. William Henry Harrison.

The Kentucky Irish American has heretofore referred to John Gibson and can add something to the brief reference made to him in the article in the Hibernian which will no doubt be interesting to its readers in Indiana and Kentucky. Gen. Gibson, while serving as Secretary of Indiana Territory, lived for part of his term at Corydon, not more than twenty-five miles from Louisville. Corydon was then (1813) the capital of the Territory. Previous to that time the capital was at Vincennes, and in 1821 was moved to Indianapolis. During the absence of the Governor Gen. Gibson was the Acting Governor. His addresses to the Legislature and other speeches are still preserved. His address to the Indiana Assembly on February 2, 1813, was on the subject of the war (1812) with Great Britain. It is a stirring and patriotic address and is published in Dillon's History of Indiana. It is too long to repeat here.

An interesting feature of Gen. Gibson's career, and a romantic one, was his marriage to an Indian, the sister of Logan, the great Shawnee chief. Gibson was the author, or at least the translator of Logan's speech, which appeared in every school reader twenty-five years ago, entitled "Who is There to Mourn For Logan?" The speech is published in full in Mr. Jefferson's notes. A deposition was made in Pittsburgh in April, 1800, says Judge Dillon, by John Gibson, afterward Secretary of Indiana Territory, the deponent making the following statement in substance:

In the year 1774 he accompanied Lord Dumore on an expedition against the Shawnees and other Indians in the Scioto. That on their arrival within fifteen miles of the town they were met by a flag, and a white man informed Lord Dumore that the chiefs of the Shawnees had requested his lordship's army to halt and send in some one who understood their language. Gibson was sent in by Lord Dumore, and he found Logan, Cornstalk and other chiefs of the Shawnees. And Logan, after shedding an abundance of tears, delivered to him the famous speech, in part as follows:

"I appeal to any white man to say if ever he entered Logan's cabin hungry and he gave him not meat; if ever he came cold and naked and he clothed him not. During the course of the last long and bloody war Logan remained idle in his cabin, an advocate for peace. Such was my love for the whites. * * * Logan never felt fear. He will not turn his heel to save his life. Who is there to mourn for Logan? Not one."

Few of those who have read Logan's speech in the readers of twenty-five years ago know that John Gibson, the first Secretary of Indiana Territory, wrote the speech as it came from the great Indian chief's lips. Few also are aware that John Gibson was of Irish descent. It is well to remind the rising generation that Irishmen took a leading part in the early settlement of this region.

The Hibernian is doing a good service in recounting the valor and chivalrous conduct of the Irishmen who blazed the way for civilization in the great West. When John Gibson was Secretary of Indiana Territory the population was only 4,000. Now the great State of Indiana has nearly 3,000,000 people living within her borders. Her first Secretary and some time Acting Governor has almost been forgotten except by those who take the time to look up the facts of history.

PLEASANT RECEPTION.

A pleasant social event was the reception given last Friday night in honor of Charles Kelly, who was here to attend the races, at the residence of his uncle, John B. Kelly, 2509 First street. The evening was devoted to music and dancing, piano solos being artistically rendered by Misses Nora Wales and Catherine Hickey and Leed Meyers, and recitations by Leed Boyle and Anna May Kelly. After the dancing there was an elegant supper, the favors being in green and pink, the racing colors of the guest of honor. Those present were Misses Catherine Wilson, Anna May Kelly, Bettie Wilson, Catherine Hickey, Eva Sullivan, Nora Wales, May Sullivan, Catherine Kline, Frances Stroutman, Messrs. Lee Boyle, James Kelly, Pat Barbour, William Seay, Charles Kelly, James Finnegan, B. Travers, Edward Kelly and Edward Dominick.

HINTS ON STYLE.

The close fitting bolero has, by the way, gained ground of late, and though one still sees the loose pleated sack boleros they are less used than was expected earlier in the season.

New colors are continually making their debuts and many of them are really charming, though a majority are unattractively named. There is the new onion color, for instance.

The stimulated waistcoat is merely a border or edge extending beyond the edge of the coat, but in many cases it is set into the coat some distance back from the edge, so that it produces the effect of a separate waistcoat.

Orange is one of the best of the relieving colors, but it must be used skillfully. Toned down with black and white, it combines with almost any of the dark or neutral tinted stuffs, and it is used with good effect in combination with many of the light tints.

All of the hyacinth and porcelain blues, the French shades of rose, the champagne tints and those exquisite, if rather trying, tones known as the coral shadings are popular, and the various tints of yellow and orange are repeated perhaps more frequently than any other relieving colors.

Of the street suits there is little that is new to tell, and yet each day sees new and attractive models. Their variety is affected by details of trimming rather than by novelty of general plan, and a majority of these variations are wrought by means of braiding, although embroidery, quiltings, plaiting, etc., have their share in the work.

In chiffon cloth the varying shades of orange form delicious costumes softened with creamy lace and touches of black. Mustard yellow chiffon, too, forms artistic and effective frocks if skillfully used, but there are few women who can wear these strong yellows near their faces, and if such a frock the upper part of the bodice must be formed to a great extent of lace.

ADOPT NEW BADGE.

At a recent business meeting of the Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand's parish it was decided to adopt a confraternity button of new design as a badge for general use by the members. Among other things the society, in providing for the constitutional suffrages in behalf of recently deceased members, passed the following resolution out of respect for the memory of Patrick Cody: Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call from this life to his eternal reward Patrick Cody, one of the first and ever loyal members of the Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand's congregation, and a man held in deserved honor for his Catholic zeal and other Christian virtues; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Holy Name Society, while bowing to the Divine will, also give expression to its sense of loss in Patrick Cody's death by drawing up this resolution of sorrow and by appropriately communicating the same to the family and friends of the deceased in token of sympathy with them in their bereavement.

Young Men's Institute Out
After Next Grand

The Newport Y. M. I. brought out Tuesday evening one of the finest gatherings ever seen on the Island Queen, 620 couples being registered. The dance music was continuous, and additional music on the main deck was at the same time rendered by Clinton's brass band. What promised to be a more than ordinary cool May evening turned into a pleasant night. Every section of Cincinnati was represented, but the turnout from Council 164 was extremely gratifying to the Newport boys. Over 200 couples came from Covington, due to the energetic efforts of Chairman John Read, Messrs. Thomas Conery, a genuine hustler, and Corcoran and Nienaber, new members.

The Lexington convention trip committee, Theo. Geisler, Thomas Connolly and Dave Kearney, decorated the Y. M. I. men in general with a ribbon booming Newport for the convention of the Grand Council in 1905.

Lafayette Council will soon issue invitations for its thirteenth Fourth of July basket picnic at Glen Park, and on Sunday, May 29, the annual memorial exercises will be conducted.

SIXTEEN WILL RECEIVE.

A class of sixteen children will receive their first holy communion tomorrow morning at St. Mary's church on the Knobs back of New Albany. The altars of the handsome little church will be banked with flowers and evergreens and Father Hildebrand will officiate at the mass.

Sunday morning, May 29, large classes will approach the holy table for the first time at the Sacred Heart church, Seventeenth and Broadway, where Father Patrick Walsh and the Sisters have been instructing and preparing the little folks for several months for the joyful occasion, and at the Church of Our Lady in Portland. Here there will be a special musical programme and brilliant services.

RETURNS TONIGHT.

Supreme Trustee Joseph P. McGinn will return tonight from St. Louis, where he has been attending the meeting of the Supreme Trustees and officers of the Catholic Knights of America, who held their first session Monday and did not adjourn until Friday. The most important matter before them was the vexatious rearing problem, but what action was taken has not yet been learned. There are many advocates of a special meeting of the Supreme Council for the sole purpose of disposing of this question.

PLEASED BIG AUDIENCE.

The piano recital given Thursday evening at Macaulay's Theater in honor of Prof. Patrick O'Sullivan was an artistic success. The performance of the talented young composer pleased the big audience that greeted him. Prof. O'Sullivan's friends thought they might prevail upon him to give another, but this he can not do, as he sails next week for Europe.

OLDHAM CLUB AUXILIARY.

The Oldham Club will organize a ladies' auxiliary at Wagner's Hall, next Tuesday evening to assist them in the picnic, which they are to give at Phoenix Hill Park, Thursday, July 21. A twenty-dollar gold piece will be given to the person selling the largest number of tickets, the contest to start at this meeting, when the entries will be announced.

GOOD WORK.

During the past six months Frank Dugan and his assistant have inspected over 8,000 scales, weights and measures, and all found incorrect were condemned. Inspector Dugan has filled this office with signal ability, and never before were the people of Louisville so well protected from those who would use fraudulent weights and measures.

CHAPEL DEDICATED.

The new "Cardome" chapel for Catholic young ladies under the management of the Sisters of the Visitation, at Georgetown, was dedicated Wednesday morning. Right Rev. Bishop Maes, of Covington, assisted by twelve priests, conducted the ceremonies. The cost of erection amounted to $40,000.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

If milk looks curdled but tastes sweet, strain it through a very fine napkin.

On Monday, May 16, the Bishop will officiate at the confirmation of a large class at St. Catherine's church, New Haven.

Apply a red-hot iron to the head of a tight screw and the screw can easily be removed if the screw-driver is used while it is hot.

An apple kept in the cake box will keep the cake moist for a great length of time. The apple must be moved when withered.

When ironing table cloths move the iron with the warp thread—that is lengthwise, and the cloths will wear much longer.

Articles of food cooked in deep fat should never be heaped on top of one another, but laid snugly in crimped paper to drain.

Keep a high stool in the kitchen, on which you may sit to prepare vegetables, wash dishes or iron. It can often be used in place of a stepladder.

Milk toast is improved by the addition of a little grated cheese just before serving. Grated cheese is also a pleasant addition to a dish of mashed potatoes.

Don't throw or drain vegetables into the sink. Small particles will go through the sieve and lodge in the trap and necessitate the calling in of a plumber.

Rugs should be used instead of carpets when possible. Leave a two foot space around the wall and if the floor is not hard wood, this space can be painted to correspond with the woodwork of the room.

The small emery papers that are to be had for less than a cent apiece keep the nails short and enable anybody who uses them to shape the nail. The flesh about the nail and at the base can be kept from growing over the nail by pushing it gently backward when the hands are damp after washing and the flesh pliable.

JUNE WEDDING.

Miss Pearl Blust, of Ohio Falls, and John Beasel, of Jeffersonville, will be married at St. Anthony's church in Jeffersonville early in June. They have long been sweethearts, but their engagement had not been known till this week.

GLASSES DIDN'T SUIT.

A gentleman took his coachman to a country inn, and invited him to have a drink. Asking him what he would have he received the answer: "Same as yourself, your honor."

So he called for two chartreuses. The Irishman looked with disgust at the small glass, but when he had drunk it a broad smile came over his face and he asked what it was called. He was told it was a wine made by the old monks of Chartreuse, and he exclaimed: "The Lord bless the monks of Chartreuse and may they live long to make this lovely stuff, but the devil take the man that made the glass."

HEROIC ACT.

Lieut. Kinnarney Rescues Five
Persons From Burning Building.

Lieut. James Kinnarney, of the Police Department, with the assistance of John T. O'Neil, of 180 Shelby street, at the risk of his life rescued five persons from burning buildings about midnight on Thursday. Lieut. Kinnarney also arrested the incendiaries, John Maddox, aged sixteen, and Robert Rauner, aged fourteen years, who confessed that they started the conflagration just for fun in order to see a big blaze.

The fire was in the cooerage establishment of Joseph Dreidel at 170-178 Shelby street, which the boys set afire. The flames were communicated to adjoining cottages occupied by Mrs. Anna O'Neil, 180 Shelby, Mrs. James Anderson, 171 Shelby, and Mrs. Nick Benneck, 171½ Shelby. The inmates of these cottages were asleep and were rescued at great personal risk by Lieut. Kinnarney and O'Neil. The loss to Dreidel was about $25,000.

The boys who set the place on fire confessed in the Police Court on Friday morning.

Lieut. Kinnarney, the hero of the occasion, is the father of John Kinnarney, who recently performed an act of heroism in stopping a runaway team, saving the life of a lady. The Kinnarney family is coming to the front for part of that Carnegie hero fund.

SIXTY-THREE.

Owensboro Council of the Knights of Columbus initiated sixty-three members into that order last Sunday. The work of the team from this city, which conferred the third degree, was pronounced the best and most interesting exemplification of ritualistic work yet seen in Kentucky. Several hundred sat down to the banquet, at which Hon. James J. Fitzgerald, of this city, was one of the principal speakers. It is thought that the next Kentucky initiation will be conducted by the Louisville council.

FATHER ERASMUS HOME.

Rev. Father Erasmus, of the Passionist Order, who has been on missionary work in Philadelphia and the East for several months, has returned to the Sacred Heart Retreat on the Newburg road, and after a brief rest will resume his missionary duties. Father Erasmus is one of the most eloquent missionary preachers in the order to which he belongs, and his services are always in demand.

FIRST LAWN FETE.

The South End Outing Club announce their second annual lawn fete and dance to be given on the lawn of John Sullivan, 2509 First street, next Thursday evening. This club is composed of well known young men of the southern part of the city, who would like to have all their friends at their fete, which promises to be quite a social event.

DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE.

Miss Anna Doyle was entertained Friday evening at her home on West Madison street with a delightful surprise party by a large number of her young friends. A most enjoyable evening was spent, dancing and games being indulged in till a late hour, after which refreshments were served. The prizes were won by Miss Virginia Dettmeier and Bernard Campbell, but the triumph of the evening was the artistic playing on the piano by little Miss Trompeter.

NEW PLAY.

"Dante," a play written by the Rev. James L. O'Connor, S. J., of Philadelphia, was produced in that city for the first time last week and it made a marked impression. It was presented by the Dramatic Society of St. Joseph's College.

Father O'Connor's play is the exact reverse of Sardou's characterization of Dante as an immoral and profligate man. In fact, the author frankly said that the play was written largely with the object of counteracting the impression made by Sir Henry Irving's impersonation. Father O'Connor's drama aims at portraying the chief events of the poet's career and of the Inferno. His Dante is the pure, reverential, high-minded, nobly gifted Florentine as he appears to the student of his works. The play, which is in three acts, showed artistic merit of a high order, and at its conclusion the author was congratulated by some of the leading literary students of the city.

If an old fowl is steamed instead of boiled the juices are retained, the flavor maintained and all the nourishment is left in the meat instead of being distributed in the water in which it is boiled.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Syracuse Hibernians are arranging for a union picnic next month.

Philadelphia will be represented by sixteen delegates at the national convention.

The order has 450 members in Manchester, N. H., comprising about one-fourth of that of the whole State.

Division 1 of Milwaukee had a class of fifty to initiate Monday night. The order is enjoying a steady growth in Wisconsin.

Patrick J. McNulty and Major Edward McCrystal will be the delegates of the New York County Board to the national convention.

Division 2 of Galveston, which is getting along nicely and has a degree team in good working order, initiated six new members recently.

Fifteen divisions marched in the parade that welcomed Right Rev. William Stang, recently ordained Bishop of Fall River, Mass., when he took possession of his new See.

Division 1 meets Tuesday night, and all members are urged to attend. They will hear much that will interest them relating to both the union picnic and the national convention.

The candidacy of National President Dolan was urged at the quarterly meeting of the County Board held recently in Syracuse, and that deserving gentleman was endorsed for a second term.

State President Brennan and the New Jersey State degree team accepted the invitation of County President McNulty and will exemplify the four degrees at an initiation tomorrow in New York City.

Division 4 has arranged for the entertainment of all the Hibernians of the Falls Cities next Wednesday night. A large class of new members will be enrolled, and a special programme has been arranged by the Literary Committee.

Boston Hibernians will hold their county convention May 29, when delegates to the national convention will be chosen. The election will be hotly contested, as there are many candidates for the honor of representing the Hio this year.

The Hibernians of Dunkirk have united in an effort to have eliminated the insults offered the Irish race by such publications as Life and Judge. Only by such method can publishers be made to understand that the Irish will not tolerate any indecency offered to the fair name of their race and country.

LOOK FOR A BIG CROWD.

Settoli held a short session Monday evening, as also did Trinity Council. The only business transacted related to the coming outings and excursions, the committees having them in charge reporting everything moving along satisfactorily, with every indication pointing to success.

Mackin Council met at the club house Tuesday night, the attendance being good, though there was no business of importance. Charles Raidy stated that members had gone earnestly to work to bring out a big crowd for the outing at Fern Grove, which takes place next month. The work of excavation for the new building is well under way and the members will eagerly watch its erection. As yet no temporary meeting place has been decided on, as it will not be necessary to move for several weeks. The members present were glad to again have President Shelley with them, though he had not fully recovered from his recent illness.

GERMAN NAVY BAND COMING.

By special permission of his Majesty Emperor Wilhelm II. the above famed band will appear at the World's Fair. Meantime a limited number of American cities have opportunity to hear the first naval band of Germany in grand concert, Herr Louis Kindermann directing. It will appear here at the Jockey Club Park for a week, beginning Monday, June 6. This crack band of the German Empire comes to America on military leave of absence, but is under the military administration of the German War Department. Each man must report to a German Consul every thirty days, under penalty, and leave of absence is extended from time to time. Should Germany become involved in war the band would be recalled instantly. Every member is required to wear invariably the uniform of the German navy. Herr Kindermann possesses a repertoire of more than 1,300 standard compositions. Although only recently landed the band has appeared triumphantly in a number of the largest cities and scored success in every instance.

JEFFERSONVILLE.

The St. Augustine's Aid Society of Jeffersonville, at its meeting this week accepted the resignation of its former popular President, John Kennedy. Michael Coy, who was unanimously elected to the vacancy, will make a capable and safe executive. He has been identified with the society from its formation.

Patrick Tracey, who has been spending the week on a visit to his daughter at Whiting, Ind., will return today.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The Gaelic League is surely progressing. It has brought down the British Parliament. The latest is that this body had to stock a font of Irish type to print in their Parliamentary papers the Irish correspondence of a Munster Justice of the Peace who has been suspended for persisting in signing his name in Irish only to legal documents.

In St. Mary's church at Duncrana the Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell preached an extremely able and eloquent sermon, in which he said there was no way of stopping emigration except by developing the resources of the country, making life attractive for the people at home and spreading information in regard to the fate of those who went abroad, not calling bad good or darkness light, but giving a fair picture of sad failure as well as honorable success.

The obstinate and anti-Irish "Irish National Board of Education" has just, after stubborn resistance, issued a bi-lingual program of instruction for the use of schools in all Irish-speaking and in all bi-lingual districts. This is a great victory for the league. But the leaguers will not rest upon their laurels. They continue the fight till such a program is provided for all the "National" schools in the country. The next generation of our people will be bi-lingual throughout.

Another important conference of town tenants was held in Dublin at the headquarters of the Irish Town Tenants' Association. Delegates were present from branches of the association in all parts of the country, and correspondence from towns in which branches have been established was considered. From the reports received it is evident that the organization has taken firm hold in the country against those who suffer in consequence of the inequitable conditions of tenure existing. Encouraging accessions of membership are recorded.

Martin Doyle, of Nunery, County Carlow, was lately visited by J. D. Bell, of the Irish Land Commission, with a view of inspecting the old homestead of the family at Ballyoo, from which he was evicted in April, 1896. Bell went over the farm and made a careful examination of the condition of the land. The Estates Commissioners proposed to make an offer to Mr. Cogan, the present occupier, for his interest in the farm, and if the offered terms be acceptable Doyle will be forthwith reinstated. Cogan resides in Dublin and it is generally presumed that he will surrender the farm to Doyle, but if this presumption be incorrect the evicted tenant will be reinstated in another holden of equivalent value.

In various parts of the country on Sunday new churches were solemnly dedicated to divine worship and others reopened after renovation and extensive improvements, rendered necessary by inadequacy to meet the requirements of the people attending them. The new Church of St. Joseph at Tereunure was dedicated by his Grace the Archbishop of Dublin; the new Church of St. Mary at Gortleters, County Leitrim, was dedicated by Most Rev. Dr. Hoare, Bishop of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise; the new Church of St. Joseph at Limerick was formally opened by the Most Rev. Dr. O'Dwyer, and at Buncrana, County Donegal, the Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell, Bishop of Raphoe, delivered an eloquent discourse in St. Mary's church, in aid of the extension and improvement of the ecclesiastical schools and buildings of the parish.

HANDSOME QUARTERS.

Jacob Goby, the well known and popular restaurateur, who has done a successful business on Main street for many years, has moved into new and handsome quarters one door east of his old stand and nearer Second street. The dining-room is not surpassed by any in the city, and the many friends of the genial proprietor will be pleasantly surprised when they again visit him. Long experience and courteous attention have made Mr. Goby's place a favorite resort for the merchants and business men in that vicinity.
